Critical Incident

Supporting children with traumatic experiences

It is estimated that 1 in 4 children attending school has been exposed to a traumatic event that can affect learning and behaviour (National Traumatic Stress Network).

Outline

Children, like adults, sometimes experience or witness something extremely frightening and dangerous. This can cause a traumatic stress reaction, which affects the way the child thinks, feels and behaves. Children can be as severely affected as adults. If you recognise it, you will be better able to help children to recover, and also to know when to seek professional help.

Description

In this training event we will explore how children are affected by traumatic events, and how schools can support these children. Examples of traumatic events are physical or sexual abuse/assaults, witnessing domestic violence, road traffic accidents, the death of a loved one, war, natural disasters, terrorist attacks.

We will have a look at the impact of adverse childhood experiences (ACE's), how schools can undertake steps to become an ACE aware school, and how this fits in with supporting children with emotional health and well-being.

Outcome

Attending this workshop will enable you to:

- Know how children are affected by traumatic events and be able recognise signs and symptoms
- Understand the possible impact on learning and behaviour
- Identify strategies which will support children who have experienced trauma
- Know about accessing additional support

Audience

Any member of staff supporting children with traumatic experiences
