AUTISM EDUCATION TRUST - GOOD AUTISM PRACTICE 24th June 2026

Autism Education Trust Good Autism Practice

Outline

Gain practical knowledge and discover hands-on tools and techniques to support autistic pupils in your setting.

Description

This module focuses on the importance of getting to know a pupil and how their autism affects them. We look at examples of distressed behaviours and how these can be supported through a range of strategies, approaches, and reasonable adjustments.

The module also guides you on how to gather information about an autistic pupil's interests, aspirations, strengths and differences and how this information can be used when developing a Pupil-Centred Education Plan (PCEP).

The module introduces the AET Schools Competency Framework for you to be confident when developing and evaluating your good autism practice, following completion of the module.

Outcome

The aims

'Good autism practice in Schools' will support you:

To develop your knowledge and understanding of good autism practice.

To increase your expertise in using practical strategies and approaches that support autistic pupils.

To develop your knowledge about autism and the individual to inform pupil-centred planning.

To help you to reflect on and improve your practice in working with Autistic pupils.

Learning objectives

After completing 'Good autism practice in Schools', you will be able to:

Understand that autism is a difference rather than a deficit or disorder.

Recognise the Three Areas of Difference in autism and how these can affect autistic pupils.

Be confident in using the Autism Competency Framework.

Involve the Autistic pupil and their family in decisions.

Use a range of approaches, strategies, and adaptations to remove barriers to learning.

Collect information for a Pupil-Centred Education Plan.

Ensure inclusive practice for all Autistic pupils.
